Press Release

November 1,2026

Epoch Company, Ltd.

Help Us Protect the World of Sylvanian Families

Thank you very much for your continued love and support for Sylvanian Families.
Recently, we have confirmed cases in which large Sylvanian Families display figures and other display items exhibited in stores and at events have been unlawfully taken or stolen and listed for sale on online auction platforms and secondary marketplace websites.
These display items are exclusively prepared and carefully maintained for stores and event venues so that our customers can immerse themselves in the world of Sylvanian Families.
We are deeply disappointed that these items have been removed and resold in this manner. Such activities detract from the enjoyable experience we strive to provide to all our fans.
We kindly ask our customers to refrain from purchasing large display figures or other display items that are not available through official retail channels.
Please also be aware that purchasing these items or promoting them through social media and other platforms may contribute to and encourage unauthorized distribution.
Please be advised that buying, selling, or receiving items that may have been unlawfully obtained can involve legal issues. We urge everyone to exercise caution.
Together with our valued fans, we are committed to maintaining a safe and enjoyable environment where everyone can continue to experience the world of Sylvanian Families.
We sincerely appreciate your understanding and cooperation.